4. The amount of data shown on a page is reasonable.

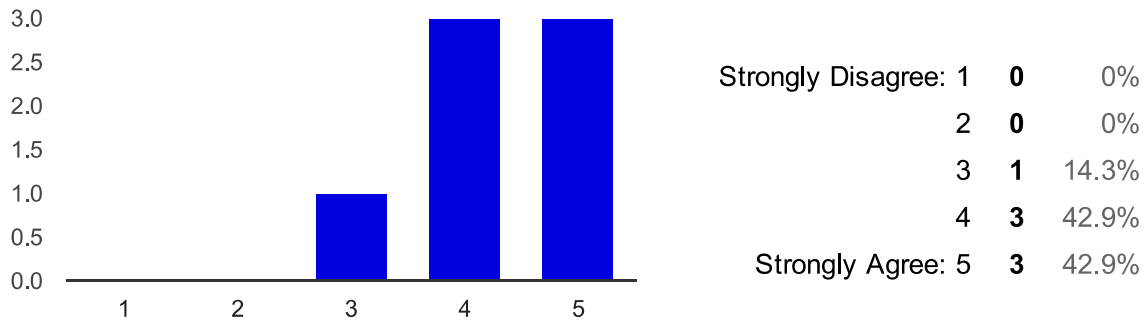

5. I understand the purpose of the icons by looking at them.

6. I understand the functions of the links and buttons on each page.

7. The most important data to me is accessible on the Home page.

8. Is there any data on the Home page that is missing or not needed?

I don't think so, but I don't know the intent of the application.

Are there additional plans not displayed on the Home page due to space constraints? If so, there should be "More" or something to indicate that. Similarly, if there are additional schedule items, there should be an indicator to alert the user.

possibly may want a link to a contact for info/help

Hard to answer - not sure what should be there or what would be helpful.

If Virginia is the parent, then she would need to know the role of the person who is leaving her a message. It should say "Amy X, case worker" George Y - case Supervisor, etc. I'm also confused, is Walter's plan for a child? The child wouldn't have a plan, the parent has the plan. If Walter had a plan, he certainly wouldn't be a small child with an anger management class. On page 2, why is Walter's background color different? Do background colors have meaning?

9. What do you like most about the pages?

Simplicity

Simple layout that's easy to understand.

They are logical & flow nicely from one page to the next.

Colors and lay out are simple, has a calming effect. Doesn't seem confusing or stressful to use.

There is alot of white space, clean. I like the photos

10. What do you like least about the pages?

Some people may not identify with "male" or "female" on the update profile page.

Lack of indicators as mentioned in #8.

The color... it is not appealing, mainly the top banner. The banner should be a different color.

I like them

Over emphasis on gender binary - no space for articulating gender status beyond male/female or allowing for no preference.

The color palette seems too masculine

11. Are there any additional comments you would like to share?

Overall, the pages look nice.

very user friendly

Profile page should have email? Noticed typo in virginia woolf's email address - written as 'wolf'!

some of the content doesn't make sense to me.
